(hereinafter referred to as the “Regulation” and/or “Regulation on the processing and protection of personal data”).

Personal data

What information do we collect

On the Online Platform, when you place orders, research or otherwise interact with us, we collect both personal information and general data.

Personal information concerns an individual user and is processed in the manner, within the limits, and for the purposes specified in the Regulation. We do not require registration or provision of such information to view our platform and gain access to its content.

In order to place an order for goods/services, participate in promotions, research or otherwise interact with us, you must carefully read your rights and obligations regarding the processing of personal data specified in Art. 8 of the Law of Ukraine "On the Protection of Personal Data" and the Regulation, carefully read this User Agreement and the Regulation, and express your full consent to their terms.

If you do not agree with any of the terms of this User Agreement and the Regulation on the processing and protection of personal data, please do not provide personal information (personal data).

Why do we process personal data

The term "personal data" is used in the meaning defined by the Law of Ukraine "On the Protection of Personal Data" and constitutes a set of information on use, which are defined in the Regulation.

We can process your personal data for the purposes and purposes specified in the Regulation. In this case, one or more purposes may be applied simultaneously.

We act in accordance with this User Agreement, on the basis of the Regulation on the processing and protection of personal data and on the basis of the current legislation of Ukraine. We have the right to store Personal Data for as long as necessary to achieve the purposes specified in this User Agreement and the Regulation.

How we collect information

The purposes, purposes of processing personal data, as well as other conditions for processing personal data are defined in the Regulation.

Personal information, as we noted above, comes directly from you and from your information. When you place an order for a product, we collect the information you provide in order to process the order and deliver it to you. When you send us an e-mail, we save the e-mail address you provide in order to be able to respond, etc.

We also constantly collect general information when you visit our platform. The process of collecting such data occurs using cookie technology, as explained below.

Cookies

Like many other companies, we use cookie technology on our Online Platform and beyond. Cookies are pieces of information that the Online Platform transfers to the consumer's (User's) hard drive to store information related to the Online Platform. This technology expands your ability to use the Internet, saving your priorities when browsing a particular site. Cookie technology does not contain personal information and cannot in any way configure your system or read information from your hard drive.

When you browse our Online Platform, we may place cookies on your computer. These temporary cookies are used to count the number of visits to our platform. They are deleted when you exit your browser. Persistent cookies may be stored on your computer by your browser. When you register, this type of cookie tells you whether this is your first visit to us or whether you have visited our Online Platform before.

Cookies do not contain personal data and can be blocked by you at any time. Cookies do not receive personal information about you or provide us with your contact information, and they do not receive any information from your computer. We use cookies to determine the characteristics of the Online Platform and the offers that you like most in order to provide you with more information that interests you. Cookies ensure security support and their execution. Cookies also allow you to track violations of the User Agreement by visitors or devices. Cookies help to estimate the number and frequency of requests, as well as to identify and block visitors or devices that are trying to perform bulk downloads of information from the Online Platform. The "help" shortcut on the toolbar of most browsers will tell you how to prevent your browser from accepting new cookies, how to receive messages from your browser that you have received new cookies, or how to disable cookies. Remember that cookies allow you to take full advantage of all the features of the online platform, and we recommend that you leave them enabled.

Prices and availability of goods

The description of goods posted on the Online platform, including prices indicated on the Online platform and information on the availability of goods, may change. The order amount may change depending on the price, quantity of the product range available from the seller on the date of shipment. The final cost of the goods is indicated in the settlement and / or shipping documents provided to the buyer (or his representative) upon receipt of the order. In the event of unavailability of the goods, the seller may unilaterally cancel the order.

Disclosure and transfer of data

Information on the conditions for disclosing personal data to third parties is contained in the Regulation.
